

Galileo Selected for use as District Determined Measures (DDM)

This past year, the Department of Secondary and Elementary Education (DESE) and WestEd selected Galileo® K-12 Online as meeting the criteria for use as District-Determined Measures (DDMs). The full report is located at: <http://www.doe.mass.edu/edeval/ddm/example/>. In particular, Galileo was determined to be aligned with critical content, as identified by the Core Course Objectives (CCOs)  and/or the appropriate Massachusetts Curriculum Framework in the following subjects and grades:

*Note that DESE and WestEd did not evaluate DDMs for ELA-Literacy grades 4 through 8 at this time. The DESE published plan is as follows:

Revised Implementation Timeline

- In 2013-2014, all districts must research and pilot DDMs for some grades and subjects.
 - At a minimum, districts must pilot at least one DDM that is aligned to the Massachusetts Curriculum Frameworks in each of the following areas: (1) early grade (K-3) literacy, (2) early (K-3) grade math, (3) middle grade (5-8) math, (4) high school writing to text, and (5) traditionally non-tested grades and subjects (e.g., fine arts, music, p.e.).
- By September 2013, all districts must report to ESE:
 - The identified potential DDMs the district will pilot during the 2013-2014 school year and the grades and subjects to which they are aligned;
 - The grades and subjects for which the district has not identified potential DDMs and will research and/or develop measures to pilot in spring 2014.
- By February 2014, districts must report a final plan for determining Impact Ratings for all educators by the end of the 2015-2016 school year based on the identified DDMs.
